Critical Stage In Negotiations On Strike Issue

Fears Mount That Million
Men May Be On Strike
Before Weekend

STEEL, COAL, AUTO WORKMEN AFFECTED

By TROY GORDON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 26.—Pace-setting steel negotiations enter their critical stage amid mounting fears that a million men may be on strike over welfare and pension demands before the week is out.

CIO Steelworkers officials went back into conference with management expressing the gloomy conviction that the walkout scheduled for midnight Friday will not be averted.

Meanwhile, John L. Lewis' 480,000 United Mine Workers began the second week of their walkout with no signs of a settlement in sight, and 115,000 CIO-Auto Workers employed by the Ford Motor Company face a strike deadline Thursday.

Issue In Deadlock
In each of the three basic industries, the issue in deadlock is whether the companies will bear the full cost of welfare and pension plans. The coal industry, which has been paying 10 cents a ton for miners social insurance, is facing a demand for a still greater levy. CIO and Steelworkers' President Philip Murray seeks to set the pace for U. S. industry and labor in his talks with U. S. Steel. But either Murray or "Big Steel" must give ground if any settlement is to be reached.

Murray insists that the union's minimum terms are the six-cents and hour pension and four cents an hour welfare fund that the President's Fact-Finding Board recommended the companies pay.

"Big Steel" maintains that employees should bear a part of pension and welfare costs.

Demand Social Insurance
In Detroit, the United Auto Workers are demanding a company-financed social insurance set-up similar to that asked for by the steelworkers. Here management has shown signs of accepting the terms recommended by the Presidential board for the steel industry.

If Ford and the auto workers reach a settlement by Thursday, a precedent may be laid for the steel industry.

The coal strike, termed by Lewis "a no-day work-week" that started in miners' anger at the cessation of pension fund payments when southern operators stopped their contributions, will be discussed by Lewis and Southerners Wednesday at Bluefield, W. Va.

Coal stockpiles are still high and administration sources have indicated that the government will not intervene until the supply is low. Stocks are estimated at between 30 and 40 days.

Under the Taft-Hartley Act the government cannot step in to ask for an injunction until the nation faces an "emergency."

Work of clearing fire debris from the former site of the Central Presbyterian church, on the Public Square, is under way. The site will be leveled and be temporarily used as a parking ground, it is stated.

Traffic on the highways of this area was heavier than usual on Sunday, apparently many motorists taking advantage of the perfect weather conditions of the day for a ride.

A-Bomb Is Soviet Aid In Cold War Battle

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Diplomatic sources said today that world knowledge of Russia's atom bomb is a powerful new card for the Soviets in the cold war game. Effect of the knowledge was expected to be seen almost immediately in the Balkans, where Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito has been defying the sabre rattlers in the Kremlin.

There have also been hints that Albania is developing an attitude of resistance to Moscow's dictation, possibly as a result of Tito's defiance.

Some private reports have said that the epidemic has given signs of developing in such satellite states as Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Romania, where Communist domination was established through an even thinner group of Moscow puppets than in Yugoslavia.

One immediate result is said to be the likelihood that the Soviet Union would refuse to draft an Austrian treaty, even though the Big Four foreign ministers would take it up in New York.

After the Austrian treaty comes into force, Russia will be obligated (Continued on Page Two)

Safe Taken At Reiber Garage

Over $500 Secured By Safe
Robbers Here Early Sunday Morning

SAFE IS FOUND NEAR ASPINWALL

Loot estimated at between $500 and $600 in cash, together with some valuable papers were secured by safe robbers here late Saturday night or early Sunday morning from the Reiber Cadillac Co., city police report.

Report of the burglary was made to police at 1:25 p. m. Sunday by Elmer W. Reiber of the Reiber company, and Detective John Moore and Officers Richards and Weis were assigned to the case.

In the meantime, police had received a tele-type message from Allegheny County, Pa., stating that a safe had been found in a small run in O'Hara Township, Allegheny county, just off Route 28, on the road which runs past the Aspinwall Veterans hospital, and that key rings bearing the name of the Reiber Cadillac Co. and a money bag bearing the name of the Lawrence Savings and Trust company, were found at the scene.

Two Men And Woman
A minister residing in that vicinity reported to the Allegheny county authorities that he had seen a car parked there, containing two men and a woman, and a good description of them was given to the authorities in Allegheny county.

The safe was taken to headquarters of the county detective's office in Pittsburgh. The minister who saw the car stated that he was unable to get the license number on the auto, as it was covered over with a rag. The burglary was discovered by Carmen Zambelli, of 617 Superior street, who resides only a short distance away from the Reiber Cadillac company, at 648 East Washington street. Zambelli stated that when he came home at 2:30 a. m. Sunday he noticed a man sitting on the running board of Zambelli's car, which was parked several doors away from his home. When he went to work Sunday morning, Zambelli said he found that his car had been broken into by forcing the venta-pane window and that the wires had been cut. Nothing was taken from the car, however. Later in the morning, when he went to the Reiber garage to see about getting the damage fixed, he discovered the place had been entered by forcing open a sliding door in the garage in the rear.

See Quick Action On Bills To Arm Anti-Red Nations

Expected To Be Capitol
Hill's First Answer To Russia's A-Bomb

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(INS)—Capitol Hill's first answer to news Russia has fired an atomic bomb will be quick agreement by House and Senate conferees on bills to arm anti-Red nations.

This is the forecast of House Foreign Relations Chairman Kee (D, W. Va.).

Kee, who will lead the House conference, has proposed that the two groups hold their first meeting at 2 p. m. (EST) today. He said they should have an agreement on the amount of weapons to be dispatched to Atlantic Pact countries and other free nations by nightfall.

This would be an unprecedented early agreement on legislation of this major scope. Kee said he favored the $1,314,010,000-sized arms sharing bill passed by the Senate rather than the House bill.

Senator Taft's Position
At the same time Senate Republican Policy Leader Taft, Ohio, is urging a swift return to friendly relations with Spain as a step toward bolstering North Atlantic defenses against a possible Russian attack.

Taft's position is that Spain ought to be invited into the community of nations prepared to resist any Communist aggression.

Kee announced that this committee will start hearings Tuesday on President Truman's "bold new program" to share American know-how with under-developed areas. The chairman said Assistant State Secretary Webb will be the first witness. He added:

"I hope to have the bill up for House debate at this session." House conferees on the arms-aid bill have not yet been named. Speaker Rayburn (D) Tex., is to name Kee and four others shortly after noon today.

Charge Kremlin Agents Highly Active In U. S.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(INS)—The chain reaction of Russia's A-bomb touched off a Republican charge today that the administration permitted Soviet theft of atomic secrets and that Kremlin agents still are "highly active" in the U. S.

Rep. Velda (R) Ill., a former FBI agent, flatly accused President Truman and the late President Roosevelt of responsibility for a "disgraceful" American security record.

Sen. McMahon (D) Conn., chairman of the joint congressional committee on atomic energy, angrily retorted that Velda is guilty of "cheap, partisan political maneuvering" and snapped that "the situation is too serious for such tactics."

Velda insisted that administration "laxities" allowed infiltration of the U. S. government by Soviet spies and enabled Russia to gain three to five years in producing the atomic bomb.

Showdown On A-Bomb Control Now Facing U. N.

Atomic Policies Re-assayed
In Light Of Soviet Possession Of Atomic Bomb

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

FLUSHING MEADOW, N. Y., Sept. 26.—United Nations members re-assayed their atomic policies in the light of Soviet possession of the atomic bomb today in preparation for a showdown on international control at the current assembly session.

The shock of the Kremlin's nuclear explosion was followed by a hush in diplomatic circles while leading representatives at the 59th annual assembly awaited instructions from their governments.

Meanwhile, today's general policy statements by Britain's Ernest Bevin, Yugoslavia's Edvard Kardelj and other delegates were closely watched for any light they might shed on the issue.

It was generally agreed that the question of international control of the atom bomb and of nuclear power must now take top priority over other U. N. issues.

Reciprocal Trade Extension Given Truman Approval

Trade Agreements As Before
80th Congress
Amendment Are Re-instated

CORDELL HULL
SEES SIGNING
(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(INS)—President Truman today signed the reciprocal trade agreements extension act and praised it as "wise and far-seeing legislation" reaffirming U. S. support of expanded world trade.

The measure reinstates the trade agreements act as it was before the Republican 80th Congress amended it to include the so-called "peril point" amendment. The law continues in force until June 12, 1951.

Former Secretary of State Cordell Hull, whose long fight in Congress and afterward as a cabinet member brought the trade agreements act into being, was present as Mr. Truman signed the legislation.

Hull Attends
Hull's attendance at the White House ceremony was one of the first public appearances he has made since recovery from an illness which kept him hospitalized for many months.

Mr. Truman declared that the measure makes plain the intention of the U. S. to press "forward toward expanded world trade at a time when such action is most urgently needed."

The bill permits the president to negotiate reciprocal trade agreements without the "peril point" restriction which had required him to inform Congress of his reason if he went below a tariff level defined by the tariff commission as "dangerous."

The GOP amendment was removed by a Senate vote of 43 to 38.

Although the law actually lapsed for two months, the new act extends the old-law retroactively for three years after June 12, 1948.

Seek To Question Premier Attlee On Soviet Bomb

LONDON, Sept. 26.—(INS)—Preliminary steps reportedly were taken today to question Prime Minister Attlee in Parliament on Soviet claims to have constructed an atomic weapon.

Labor M. P. Capt. A. R. Blackburn is understood to have requested the speaker's permission to query Attlee on Tuesday. He wants a brief amplification of the statement Attlee issued at the same time that President Truman released the information that an "atomic explosion" had occurred in Russia.

Conservative Leader Winston Churchill reportedly is considering a similar question but will not decide until Tuesday, the day that Parliament reconvenes.

Parliamentary circles said that Attlee is likely to give a non-committal and uninformative answer to any question and will try to discourage debate on the atomic bomb.

The spring has a glory completely its own, and the summer has beauty, I know. But the art of the autumn is much beyond words the beauty that precedes the snow. The trees are decked out in their holiday garb, the beeches, the elms and the gum, and over the beauty that thrills and entralls, somehow you can hear a faint hum. There's whispering of the colors they were, are they jealous, well I just wouldn't put it that way; they're talking of showing their gorgeous gowns off—it's bright, sixty-seven today.

Claim Russia Possessed Bomb Secret In 1947

MOSCOW, Sept. 26.—(INS)—Russia has declared that Soviet possession of the atomic bomb is no cause for alarm and has reaffirmed the Kremlin's support for international control of the weapon.

A statement released yesterday by Tass, the official Soviet news agency, and published in all Russian papers without comment, sought to allay western fears.

Tass, harking back to former Foreign Minister Molotov's 1947 statement that the "secret" of the atomic bomb no longer exists, said: "Scientific circles in the United States took this Molotov statement for a bluff, considering that the Russians could not possess an atomic weapon earlier than 1952."

"Possessed Secret In 1947"

"They, however, were mistaken, since the Soviet Union possessed the secret of the atomic weapon already in 1947."

The official statement added: "As for the alarm being spread on this account by certain foreign circles there is not the slightest grounds for alarm."

"It should be pointed out that the Soviet government, despite the existence in its country of the atomic weapon, intends adopting in the future its former position in favor of the absolute prohibition of the atomic weapon."

"Concerning control of the atomic weapon, it has to be said that control will be essential in order to check up on fulfillment of a decision on the prohibition of production of the atomic weapon."

ington confessing with top officials on the United States attitude for the secret big six confab taking place next Thursday at Lake Success. Soviet foreign minister Andrei Vishinsky likewise is awaiting instructions from the Kremlin.

Carlos P. Romulo, energetic president of the assembly, has warned that the assembly must strive to solve the control problem "if mankind is to have a durable peace."

Few of the delegates from either the big or small powers disagree with him. Most appear to be ready to revoke this week the U. N. Atomic Energy Commission's recommendation that atom control talks be suspended until the big six have reached a basis for agreement.

Romulo declared that "not only war and peace but also life and death for mankind" hangs on the ability of the big powers to achieve effectual international control.

Seek Motive For Double Shooting

California Professor Shoots Student And Then Commits Suicide

ARCADIA, Cal., Sept. 26.—(INS)—Investigators sought today the motive behind a shooting in which a John Muir college professor apparently killed a University of Southern California student and then committed suicide.

The victims were Walter H. Griffith, 35, a language professor, and Otto Magnuson, 23, GI student at USC. Their bodies were found yesterday afternoon in the Arcadian apartment where they lived.

Police said that the position of the bodies indicated that Griffith fired three shots at Magnuson as the student was taking a bath and then ended his own life with a bullet through the head.

The shooting was discovered when the professor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. C. Griffith, called at the apartment to visit their son.

The two men moved into the apartment a week ago, after their return from attending a summer session at the University of Mexico.

Says Russia's Bomb Made In Soviet Armenia

PARIS, Sept. 26.—(INS)—A conservative Paris newspaper said today that Russia's first atomic bomb was manufactured deep in Soviet Armenia with the help of 60,000 Germans, Italians and Romanians, formerly prisoners of war.

The morning newspaper, Figaro, published an article written by Vassili Ivanovitch, described as a "Yugoslav Traveller," who claimed that news of Russia's first atomic explosion reached the United States via Iran.

The story located the Russian "atomgrad number one" at a point 30 miles northeast of Erivan, the capital of Soviet Armenia. Erivan is only 10 miles from Iran and Turkey and 45 miles from Mount Ararat.

Recent western expeditions to Mount Ararat in search of Noah's Ark, which allegedly came to rest atop the mountain, have drawn fevered Soviet charges of "spying."

In Washington, Adio commentator Drew Pearson also located the scent of the bomb manufacture and explosion as Soviet Armenia. Pearson said that American Geiger counters along the Turkish and Iranian borders detected radioactive clouds from an explosion in mid-August.

Safety Trailer Finishes Week

After a successful week of tests the safety trailer of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association has moved on its tour of the state. The trailer was parked on Washington street five days last week and one day in Ellwood City. During that time several thousand motorists took the tests and many found deficiencies in their driving ability that should be corrected.

President J. Fred Clarke of the Lawrence County Chapter of the P. M. T. A. said he was delighted with the public acceptance of the safety trailer.

JOHNS-KINNEY WEDDING EVENT

At a wedding charming in its simplicity, Miss Josephine DeEtta Johns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. D. Johns, Eastbrook road, New Castle, became the bride of Leo Paul Kinney, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Paul Kinney, Sr., of Mercer.

Rev. Owen Shields officiated at the double ring ceremony which was performed at 2:30 p. m. on September 23 at the Croton Methodist church. Garden flowers, palms, ivy and ferns provided a colorful autumnal background for the ceremony.

A lovely musical setting was provided by Mrs. Charles Campbell at the organ and by soloist Elmer Morrow who sang the "Wedding Prayer" and "Oh, Perfect Love."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina length gown of white dotted swiss over blue taffeta. The gown was fashioned with a demure round collar, a fitted bodice fastened with tiny pearl buttons from which a very full skirt swirled out, and was tied with a white velvet ribbon. The theme of white over blue was further carried out in her waist length veil. White dotted swiss mitts completed the attractive ensemble. She carried an arm bouquet of white mums, ivy and pink larkspur and a crown of white mums framed her face. As a good luck token she had a handkerchief which has been carried by several other brides in her family.

Maid of honor, Miss Audrey Brua, was similarly attired in a gown of yellow dotted swiss over yellow taffeta with a sash of dark green velvet. Her flowers were a bouquet of bronze mums, ivy, yellow larkspur. She wore a nosegay of bronze mums in her hair.

Thomas Bishop attended the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were Kay Johns and Ted McCreary.

Following the wedding an informal reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for the immediate families. Later the couple departed for a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination. Upon their return they will reside in Milwaukee, Wis., where the groom is attending Milwaukee School of Engineering.

Mrs. Kinney, Jr., is a graduate of East Brook high school and attended Grove City college. Her husband was graduated from Mercer high school, served with the U. S. Navy for three years in the Pacific theater of operations, and attended Westminster and Grove City colleges.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

President Truman's announcement that Russia has exploded an atom bomb blasted the world with an emotional shock today somehow almost akin to the physical impact of the dread weapon itself.

Two major questions arose immediately:

1—How powerful is the Soviet bomb in comparison with the latest products of American scientific achievement?

2—Where was the blast left off and how did President Truman learn of it?

The first question may forever remain one of sheer speculation.

The second may never be answered at all.

Utmost Secrecy Surrounds

It is inevitable that the Soviets have surrounded in utmost secrecy all of their atomic bomb experiments, just as in the case of the United States.

Rumors and reports during recent months all have remained in just that category. Soviet atom bomb sights have been placed in Soviet Armenia, at some undesignated spot not far from the Ural mountains and the furthest reaches of far eastern Siberia.

The only thing that leaked to the public prior to Mr. Truman's statement indicating some positive proof that the Russians had reached their atomic goal burst upon the world in a blaze of mystery last winter.

It took the form of an exceedingly brief dispatch from Geneva reporting that an extremely violent explosion, emanating somewhere to the east, had been recorded on seismographs.

In a presumably unguarded moment, one unidentified Swiss scientist said that it could have been an atomic blast. He added definitely that it was not an earthquake, although of major earthquake proportions.

Touche Of Search

That brief dispatch touched off one of the most painstaking and at the same time most heartbreaking searches by foreign correspondents in modern history.

The Swiss government, in obvious preservation of its ironclad neutrality, clamped down a complete censorship.

Meteorological laboratories in Geneva, Bern, Zurich and Lausanne were bombarded with questions. Swiss scientists in a position to have seen the recordings turned as silent as the tomb. There could be no positive denial for the initial circumstantial dispatch had leaked out.

But there were no denials. An immediate report that the explosion might have resulted from a falling meteor in some desolate Siberian region was scouted by scientists outside of Switzerland on the simple grounds that such phenomena do not record their vibrations on seismographs long distances away.

Take Sober View

Despite all excitement caused by a discovery that was inevitable sooner or later—as Winston Churchill emphasized on numerous occasions—world scientists as a whole took a sober view.

It has been known from the beginning that Soviet Russia's vast natural resources contain a great deal of vital uranium. She has plenty of places in which to look for valuable minerals, plenty of manpower to build the tremendous plants needed for atom bomb construction and loads of waste space in which to explode the weapon harmlessly.

The doubt in western minds was whether the Soviets, who eliminated so many top-ranking tsarist scientists and so many of their own for ideological reasons, have had enough brainpower left to accomplish the task successfully.

One argument is being offered that the Russian bomb can be a crude affair at best if it is really a home product.

Suggestions will be made that the communist espionage ring stole some secrets from the west.

Of overriding importance, however, is the simple fact that the Soviets put a bomb together, ignited it or whatever one does with an atomic bomb and blew something or other to unrecognizable smithereens.

No more momentous events have taken place in recent years. They are certain to chart a course for an unforeseeable time to come.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

MOTHER UNDER A CONTINUAL STRAIN

Any mother with two or three little children close in age is under a physical and emotional strain such as few fathers realize. Usually she does all the housework besides caring for and managing these youngsters. If she can stand it she may do better by the children to leave them more to themselves.

"Dear Dr. Myers: We have two boys, aged 27 months and 14 months. It's a big time. My biggest problem currently is to keep both of them occupied. What one does the other must do. In fact, the elder boy is imitating the younger, and I thought it would be the reverse. On occasion the elder will even climb into the baby's high chair and chatter incoherently.

Polio and Serenity

"You often emphasize poise and serenity in the mother to promote calmness in the young child. How is that to be accomplished? My own experience is that once I get up steam I have to hold the rapid pace all day to get even the minimum of work accomplished. Theoretically, a calm attitude and a rapid pace should not be incompatible, but to achieve this combination another theory is necessary.

Substantially, I replied: I just

That Russian bomb story probably is just a device to take our minds off the pennant race.

I looked for awhile as though Trygve Lie would have to appear in a Bikini bathing suit to draw an audience to his world stadium while this world's series race is on but this will do it.

When Mr. Acheson tried to settle the Greek civil war, Brooklyn-St. Louis and New York-Boston all responded "Later But we've got battles of our own."

Why a fellow down in Tennessee had his 25th child the other day and only got two paragraphs in the paper because there isn't a pitcher in the lot.

But when Vishinsky arrived here smilingly we should have known that something unpleasant would happen.

Well now they've got it . . . the next question is will they keep it?

From Me To You

Perhaps you are saying to yourself . . . my but I feel better now that I have had an extra hour of sleep . . . can't rightly say that there is any difference . . . only that we have to turn the electric lights on a little earlier in the evening . . . and instead of the children getting up at eight they now get up at seven . . . of course that will all change in a few days . . . that is the getting up time of the children . . . the days will continue to be shorter for a couple of months yet . . . But say, wasn't that a nice week-end . . . real fall weather. Surely hope we can enjoy some more of them.

This week will be a busy one . . . open house for the 12 Community Chest Agencies will take place Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoon and evenings of the three day period . . . Everyone is invited to take time and visit the agencies and see the equipment each has and the type of work each accomplishes for this community . . . Then you will better understand the necessity of keeping the "Chest" together and properly financed.

This week is also known as sweater week . . . some of the stores in town have instructed all of their salespeople to wear sweaters one store even put out an order stating that everyone from the office boy to manager would wear a sweater this week. Guess we will find some excuse for doing some extra shopping.

At long last . . . the fire ruined property on the diamond is being worked over by a debris removing squad . . . Some time ago it was announced that arrangements had been made by the proper officials in charge of the property that in a short time the lot would level and possibly could be used for parking . . . we need additional parking space so everyone is looking forward to the day when all is nice and serene on the fire ruins.

Red Harvest

A Feud Of Necessity

(By Holmes Alexander)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 26.

Any street corner will find rumors of a smoldering feud between Secretary of State Acheson and Secretary of Defense Johnson, but this is one fire which doesn't require the bucket-brigade. Let it burn.

Let it burn because it's not the kind of blaze to do any harm. It can't drive either of these extraordinarily able men out of the cabinet. Each is fully capable of self-protection, and each stands as high with the President and Congress.

The Acheson-Johnson differences are not those of a personality clash, nor of irreconcilable philosophies, nor of a right-and-wrong showdown. Laid end to end, a total of about 147 linear inches, these two tall men would not show a single knothole of anything unwholesome or untrustworthy. They are, in fact, men out of the deep-rooted, high-standing and tough-fibered. Any mistakes they make will be honest ones, open to criticism but not to suspicion.

Differences That Exist

The differences that do exist between Acheson and Johnson have to do with the job they hold. The State department has been called the Shield of the Republic, and the Defense department is the Republic's sword. There's the nub of the rub between the two secretaries. Johnson's job calls for visualizing a war, and Acheson's calls for visualizing a peace. Johnson must prepare to strike, Acheson to soothe. Johnson must think in terms of potential allies and enemies. Acheson thinks in terms of turning enemies into friends and of keeping the friends we already have.

Thus the two secretaries can find grounds of dispute almost anywhere on the world map. There's Germany. From Johnson's viewpoint Germany could be an invaluable mercenary soldier for our side. A Germany under arms, backed by a restored German industry, would plus the weakest spot in our European defense line.

Where else can we find such a military asset as a rearmad Germany? What other nation between the Rhine River and the English Channel would stand up and fight the Red Army, as Germany has done twice before? Surely not France, nor Belgium, nor the Netherlands, nor Scandinavia. Johnson would be a very poor Defense secretary (which he isn't) if he didn't believe and perhaps maintain in private that a restored German Army would make us the best possible rampart against a sneak attack from the East.

Business Is Diplomacy

But Acheson, whose business is diplomacy, cannot but repel such suggestions, spoken or implied. Restore Western Germany to pre-war strength? What would Britain say, in her economic plight, to see the German factories belching the smoke of industrial recovery? How would France, three times invaded from Germany since 1870, react to the sound of rolling armor from across the border? These are things that Acheson must think about. He would be a poor Secretary of State (which he isn't) if he did not oppose such thoughts.

Then there's Tito. To Johnson the idea of sending the Yugoslavian dictator a steel mill is shocking. We don't control Yugoslavia as we control Germany. We don't know from day to day whether Tito would fight for or against us in a Russo-American war. To Acheson the recent deal with Tito is covered by the weary diplomatic phrase—"a calculated risk." There is a chance, from Acheson's viewpoint, that recovered Yugoslavia would mean spreading prosperity in Western Europe and even in the Iron Curtain satellites. Prosperity is the known enemy of communism, as demonstrated by the Marshall Plan. Prosperity for Tito might help Acheson preserve the peace, just as it might hinder Johnson from winning a war.

One Of Natural Growth

So the Johnson-Acheson feud of rivalry of opinion is one of natural growth. If no such rivalry existed, it would be helpful to invent one. The Defense and State departments are, perhaps, the only executive agencies where intellectual animosity ought to exist and should be cultivated. Only in aggressor nations—Germany, Japan and Italy within recent memory—are diplomacy and military might kept in the same compartment. The moment a great nation uses its armed forces to implement its foreign policy, then we have conquest and imperialism. Inevitably we have war.

But the dualism between the State and Defense departments is one of the checks and balances in which American government abounds. This duality makes it possible for the Armed Forces to prepare for war, but not to incite it. And for Diplomacy to seek peace, but not commit the nation to pacifism. Wherever the interests of State and Defense come in contact, there is friction and possibly smoke. But this sort of slow glow is necessary and beneficial altogether.

Great Game Of Politics

Anent The Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.

IT HAS been stated many times that Mr. Truman, while serving in the Senate, acquired a friendship for his most recent appointee to the Supreme Court, and that this was the reason for his selection. It is unquestionably true. Certainly, it is not easy to conceive of any other reason.

THAT of his close senatorial contact with the new Justice, Mr. Sherman Minton, was born this friendship between the two is not one of the most agreeable things upon which to reflect in the record of our President. For, it is equally true that Mr. Minton's personality did not endear him to many other of his colleagues. The truth is he was a most unpopular senator, not only with those whom he opposed politically but with quite a few Democrats as well. In the Senate press gallery a dim view was generally taken of Senator Minton. A violent partisan with an unbridled tongue, he combined bitterness and bad taste with a police court lawyer's manners and a personal complacency that left little room for anyone to love him. While many have found it difficult to understand Mr. Truman's personal liking for the bumbling, blatant Harry Vaughan, personally, there seems really more to excuse friendship with the General than with the Justice.

MR. MINTON'S quick confirmation, which is in accord with Senate tradition, will not alter these facts. In the Senate he had a talent for making himself personally obnoxious to his opponents that has not since been equalled by any other member of the Senate, though the achievements along this line of Senator Wherry, of Nebraska, on the Republican side and of Senator Pepper, of Florida, on the Democratic side, are not lightly to be dismissed. Of course, Justice Minton will, as proclaimed by New Deal and Fair Deal journalistic spokesmen, align himself on the Supreme Court with the "liberal element," now composed of Justices Douglas and Black.

THIS is inevitable, not only because Mr. Minton matches the advanced New Dealism of the Messrs. Douglas and Black (though he is hardly on the same intellectual or legalistic plane) but also because they are more nearly his type of individual. Of this "liberal group," Mr. Justice Douglas is easily the leader, having arrived at this leadership chiefly because of the consistent and continuous efforts of his intimate friends to boost him for the presidency or vice presidency. This has been going on ever since he took his seat on the bench, and it is a mild statement to say that he has acquiesced in these rather raucous efforts from the start.

IT IS also a mere statement of fact to say that these Douglas boosters never let up in their promotion activities and never lose an opportunity to picture their hero in what they consider an attractive way. For example, a few days ago one of his most enthusiastic supporters again informed us in print that "Bill" Douglas has wanted to get off the bench for years. He is, it was stated, thoroughly bored by the routine of the court and the dullness of his life. He does not like to live "alone." He can make a great deal more money as a private citizen, and the only pleasure he gets as Justice now is in "baiting" his colleague Justice Frankfurter, who, it is said, is being driven "frantic."

WELL, if this is a true reflection of Mr. Douglas's feeling (and it comes from his intimates), the question arises: Why does he not get off the bench? Who is holding him? What makes him submit to this awful boredom? Why does he not go after all this money that awaits him? What's he waiting for? The answer to all these is that Justice Douglas just does not mean it at all. He does not want to resign and he isn't in the least bored. He has one of the great public positions in the country. It is a lifetime job at a good salary. On the bench he has a dignity and a prestige he could acquire in no other way. Off the bench, politically, he wouldn't amount to peanuts. His political boosters and intimate friends are almost exclusively contained in the so-called Americans for Democratic Action, the most overpublicized and shabbily pretentious agency of its kind in the country. It not only cannot carry a state; it cannot carry a city, a county, a ward or a precinct.

NO ONE knows this better than Mr. Douglas. In his heart no justice on the bench has less desire to get off than he. And it is rather absurd to say that his only pleasure is in "baiting" Justice Frankfurter. There can be no pleasure in "baiting" a person who does not know he is being "baited." Those whose regular job it is to know the court are sure of two things—first, that Mr. Frankfurter has no knowledge of being "baited" by Mr. Douglas; second, that if Mr. Douglas is doing any "baiting" it is being done off and not on the court, where Mr. Frankfurter would be aware of it. They also agree—these expert observers—that the aloofness from politics and political ambitions traditional with the court is very deeply ingrained in Mr. Frankfurter and that he probably highly disapproves of the political ambitions and activities of his colleague. But that Mr. Douglas gets any pleasure out of "baiting" Mr. Frankfurter is a new idea to them. For one thing, Justice Frankfurter is so equipped that "baiting" him would be a very profitless sport, indeed. He is fully able to take care of himself under most circumstances.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

"What do you want to be when you grow up?"

Almost every little boy is asked that question when an aunt or an uncle or a friend or stranger comes to call and doesn't know what to talk about to a little boy.

When I was a little boy I was avidly reading Fenimore Cooper's "Leatherstocking Tales."

There were not yet any comic books nor was there jet propulsion.

So, for a while, I wanted to be a cowboy with the special job of killing bad Indians.

Then the automobile became popular and with it came hair-raising automobile races.

So I wanted to be an automobile racer like Ralph De Palma, then a millionaire, Benjamin F. Fairless, president of U. S. Steel, Dr. R. G. Spruiell, president of the University of California; Mike Jacobs; Bob Hope; many newspaper publishers, cartoonists, writers and professional men.

None of these men started on top. Every one started as a newsboy.

If I had a son, he'd start as a newsboy, too.

A newsboy has to be self-reliant. He has to be tough and be out in all kinds of weather. He has to count pennies. He is an independent business man and learns the idea of free enterprise at an early age.

And, he ought to be a good shot, as many of you who have picked

"BIG BUSINESS"

Most commonplace aspects of the American scene sometimes catch the eye with their true significance in the scheme of things. As, for example, the roadside stands, lunchrooms, filling stations and the like that cannot fail to impress anyone who takes to the highways and byways this summer.

The motorist cannot help but be struck by the fact that the great number of such enterprises on the highways, many of them new, represent in the aggregate a tremendous sum in risk capital. An amazing number of Americans still believe they have a chance to invest money and effort in individual small businesses, and get back their stake plus a profit, and so they take the chance.

Win or lose, they increase the flow of business, for they buy lumber and glass and paint, equipment and goods of many kinds. Their total contribution to the economic fluidity adds up to a mighty sum. It's small business, yet very large business, and it doesn't happen anywhere on the scale seen in this country. It's part of free American economy.

It's importance is so great that it has long been and continues to be a major obstacle against the advance of the communist world revolution. Years ago, Lenin, father of that revolutionary plan, recognized this when he wrote:

"The strength of capitalism lies in the strength of small production, for unfortunately, small production still survives in a very, very large degree, and gives birth to the bourgeoisie constantly, daily, hourly, spontaneously and on a mass scale."

What Lenin meant was that a man who owns a roadside hamburger stand is no longer a proletarian—he is a capitalist. Communism can neither grow nor continue to exist so long as proletarians can become capitalists that easily.

Of course, some of them go broke. That couldn't happen in Russia. To go broke, you first must have something to lose. In Russia, everybody owns everything, so nobody owns anything. The American roadside "capitalist" doesn't want to own a share of everything—he wants to own all of something. He's willing to bet what money he can raise that he's sovereign enough and smart enough to make the grade. Lenin knew that his "nobody is anybody" formula couldn't win against a spirit like that.

NEW COMPLICATIONS IN CHINA

Mao Tze-Tung, Communist chief of China, has proclaimed the establishment of a new "People's Republic" there, although he conceded that the fighting is not over. There will be last-ditch struggles, he warns, by imperialists and "domestic reactionaries" and even after "peace and order"—on the Communist pattern—have been established they will try to sabotage it.

The announcement of a new government in China brings the question of recognition a little closer. It may also bring before the United Nations a question of whether the Nationalist government will continue to send its representatives to that body, or their places will be taken by new delegates from the Communist government.

China is one of the "big five" in the United Nations—the countries which hold special rights, including the right of veto. It was not contemplated, when this arrangement was set up, that the Chinese government would disintegrate as it has in the last year of civil strife.

Communist domination of China opens many problems for the whole world. How they will be solved awaits, first of all, the conclusion of the civil war which still rages in that country. Although our State Department has written the Chinese Nationalists off its books, Chiang Kai-Shek and other Chinese leaders may not be disposed of so casually.

Nor do we think the UN will be in haste to transfer its recognition to Mao's "proclaimed" new government, while any hope remains that China can stay out of the communist clutches.

FEDERAL HANDOUTS

During the current fiscal year $2,500,000,000 has been budgeted by the national government for grants to the states for a variety of purposes. Thomas W. Holden, a New York business leader, opposes the theory that is responsible for federal grants gives his reasons for opposing federal grants.

He argues that they demoralize state and local governments by making them subject to national rules which aren't always good. Furthermore, they concentrate more spending power in Washington, D. C., and bring closer that dominant central government which was not contemplated by the founders of the Republic.

One hundred years from now, according to scientists, the average man will be 7½ feet tall. The influence of basketball on heredity?

Queen bee lays as many as 3,000 eggs daily. If she were crossed with a hen, all taxpayers would go broke supporting the price of eggs.

The World and the Mud Puddles

When the Trumans abandoned their rickety dwelling for a safer home, apparently they departed in such haste that they left their dictionaries behind, and those they found at Blair House had come with the lease in the days of long ago. Referring to the word "etatism" the president said that it is merely a scare-word with no meaning, and that he had looked for it in his dictionary without finding a satisfactory definition. Webster's 1949 edition defines the term etatism as a concentration of all economic controls and economic planning in the hands of a highly centralized state government."

Honorable James F. Byrnes, formerly Mr. Truman's own secretary of state, a leading Democrat who has had a change of heart since, or just before he bowed out of office, seems to be conversant with the word for in an address at Washington and Lee university last June he said, "We are going down the road to statism. Where we shall wind up no one can tell, but if some of the new programs seriously proposed should be adopted, there is danger that the individual, whether farmer, worker, manufacturer, lawyer or doctor, will soon be an economic slave pulling an oar in the galley of the state."

Good Definition Needed

What this country needs is a good definition of the word "etatism" and greatly overworked expressions, "special interests" and "privileged classes." If there are any special interests and privileged classes in the United States they are the farm bloc, with its price floors, subsidies and outright gifts disguised as crop loans, the labor union, with their entrance into the Executive Mansions, their preferential treatment, and until the passage of the Taft-Hartley Law, their immunity from criminal prosecution, civil suit and publication of financial statements, and the army of federal officials and employees who have built up a self-perpetuating bureaucracy. These three factions are said to maintain the most powerful and firmly entrenched lobbies in Washington, and they are the groups which Mr. Truman is striving desperately to unite to keep him in authority and put his nostrums into effect.

All others are "reactionaries," whose interests it is not necessary to consider. This category includes professional men, self-employed artisans and tradesmen, white collar workers, merchants and manufacturers whether great or small. It includes people who are forced to live on a fixed income and the thrifty persons who purchase annuities with gold dollars to provide for old age and now are receiving returns in what Al Smith happily called baloney dollars.

There is no question about the meaning of statism, and its significance is just the same and fully as ominous whether it is called Fascism, Francism, Titism, the Welfare State or the Fair Deal.

Coral Reef Revealed As Ship's Graveyard

By JAMES RUSSELL
(U. S. S. Staff Correspondent)

MIAMI, Sept. 26—The great coral reef that lies off the Florida Keys has been revealed as the graveyard of a silver-laden Spanish treasure galleon believed to have been sunk in the 16th or 17th century.

An amateur deep-sea diver told of discovering the rotting hulk of the vessel resting in less than 60 feet of water and partially covered by masses of coral and sand.

To back up his story, Arthur McKee, of Homestead, Fla., exhibited three silver ingots, weighing about 70 pounds apiece, that he said he found aboard the ancient ship.

Bought By Institute
The Smithsonian Institute in Washington bore out the diver's tale by purchasing one of the ingots for $1,000 to display as a relic of the days when the Spaniards looted the western world of its treasures and pirate vessels sailed the waters around Florida.

McKee said he found the Spanish galleon—almost unidentifiable because its hulk is buried so deep in coral rock—while taking underwater movies and searching for sunken craft last May. It was found off the Florida Keys some 70 miles south of Miami.

The diver's findings were substantiated by Charles Brookfield, a Florida historian who has sought treasure and ancient Spanish relics in the area for years.

McKee and Brookfield, along with several other persons kept the galleon's existence a close secret for nearly four months while checking the authenticity of the silver ingots.

Their story leaked out in an announcement by Dr. Alexander Wetmore, director of the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, who said he bought one of the ingots.

Under present silver values, the ingots are worth several thousand dollars each—but Brookfield and McKee said the historical value is greater.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 26—(INS)—Champion flagpole-sitter Charlie Lupica has finally come down to earth.

Charlie had vowed to stay on the pole until the Cleveland Indians returned to first place or until the end of the season. Bill Veck, Tribe president, talked him into coming down yesterday, however, so the fans could get a good look at a loyal fan.

Lots Of Turkeys For Thanksgiving

Agriculture Department Announces Bigger And Better Supply For Season

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26—(INS)—Housewives with wobbly budgets can thrifflily let 'em eat turkey this winter—turkey stew—turkey steak or turkey in just about any disguise mother can plot and execute.

Furthermore, there will be small turkeys, medium-sized turkeys, big turkeys and just turkey parts so that no one need start something the family cannot finish.

The Agriculture department got a two-month jump on Thanksgiving today by announcing that there will be better and cheaper turkeys available this year not only for the great day itself but for the entire season.

And, it says, families which have hesitated to tackle the more impressive birds in other years can pick on a turkey their own size, leaving the giants for restaurants, hotels and dining cars.

According to the department's experts, turkey will be cheap this year because of the near-record proportions of the current crop.

There are more than 41-million of the birds ready to give the all for the cause—and that adds up to about four-and-a-half pounds of turkey per person in the United States this season.

California, which leads the nation in turkey production, is having itself an all-time record year right now. Increases have been reported, however, in all areas where turkeys are produced.

The day school enrollment for the 1949-50 term will number approximately 530 while the night school enrollment will number 275.

wish I could do more to make the burdens of you mothers lighter. In your place, I can't imagine any of us fathers doing as well as you do or being so calm. Don't be too hard on yourself for being jittery at times. Of course, any planning of your work and of the management of these youngsters that can reduce the strain on you should be very desirable.

Periods of Peace

Please try to let more things around the house go and not to be worried as you do. Expect a lot of conflicts between these two little children. Be happy over the short periods of blissful peace. Aim first to establish some effective controls over each of them so they will acquire a few essential inhibitions. By now the older boy must have learned to avoid a few forbidden objects and acts. Train the younger in this direction, too, especially to respect the rights and possessions of the elder. Don't expect the elder always to give up to the younger.

When matters grow very tense, sit down and rock and cuddle the elder and read to him. The younger may then listen some, too. The elder supposes he does not get as much fondling and attention as the younger, evidenced by his pretending to be the baby.

When Dad is home, he should take over these children most of the time, reading to the elder, explaining things to him, making things with or for him and the younger, walking with them, and guiding them in having good times with each other. Also he should help see them off to bed and help care for them at night. This would not only lessen the strain on you but would also afford rich companionship of the father with these little boys.

Of course, you might not be able to get Dad to share so generously by telling him he should. You might, however, win him in your persuasive, lovely way, to do so, especially as you express generous appreciation of such cooperation in him.

LEGS OR WHEELS

Our people seem to like to travel on wheels.

We have huggies and trucks and bikes and trains and autos. Even air passengers are on wheels part of the time.

Legs perhaps have some value besides that of carrying us from place to place.

Use of the long muscles of the body seems to have a beneficial effect on a person.

Walking apparently helps to quiet the nerves and relieve tension. Swinging the arms may help some too.

Babies make good use of arms and legs long before they begin to walk.

Taking a dog for a walk is pretty good exercise for some people. Fido is pretty much interested in places and things. His frequent stops and side trips keep the pace from being too strenuous.

JEWISH VETS TO MEET WEDNESDAY

Jewish War Veterans of Post 136, will have their regular meeting on Wednesday evening, September 28, in the Cosmo club rooms, North Mercer street.

Plans for a Halloween party will be made, and the committee will make the picnic report.

An estimated 1.07 per cent of babies born in the United States are twins.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Two sallies recently made their Groucho Marx in Hollywood. "The first time my wife ever saw me," he told one group, "I was on the screen. Then she opened the window and let me in." A dinner guest at his house complained, "These sausages seem peculiar. They are meat at one end, but bread crumbs at the other." "Correct," said Groucho. "It's an expedient. In times like these, nobody can make both ends meet."

A London editor, in Hollywood to study its customs and mores, swore to the veracity of this experience. He secured a date with one of the superduper glamor girls of the moment, and resolved to disarm her. "I forgot all my English reserve," he declares. "I said out loud who's behaved to me like a genuine gentleman in four years!"

Folks Of Fame

Richard Strauss is a German composer of the present day—hearing a famous name in musical circles, but not related to the equally noted men of the same cognomen whose musical works still live on. He was born in Munich, June 11, 1864. He composed such operas as "Salome" (which raised quite a furore for its theme when it was produced) and "Elektra" which was also much discussed. "Don Juan," "Death and Transfiguration" are frequently heard on symphony orchestra programs. Remaining in Germany during World War II, he was cleared of collaboration charges by a denazification court in Munich in June, 1948.

Born October 2, 1851, at Tarbes, France, Ferdinand Foch became a marshal of France. At school his teachers were struck by his "geometrical mind," but the war of 1870 interrupted his studies. He enlisted in the infantry, but the armistice ended his service. Georges Clemenceau, France's premier, made him a general. When World War I broke out, he was one of the few outstanding figures in the French army, and he was eventually made commander-in-chief of the Allied armies. After the war he made a triumphal tour, coming to the United States. He died suddenly March 20, 1929.

"Assignment; America"

By INEZ ROBB

(Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.)
(Distributed By International News Service)

BERLIN, Sept. 26.—To my everlasting regret, I have very little in common with Clara Boothe Luce, as I am neither blonde, beautiful nor beaucoup rich.

However, while Mrs. Luce was in Congress, we discovered that we shared a crackpot correspondent—a gentleman personally unknown to either of us—who kept urging us to save the U. S. A. by converting it to a policy of "hard money and soft women."

At the time, we thought him a crackpot, but I'm not so sure now. The German went back, but into effect in June, 1948, and hard as a rock, is playing a tremendous role in getting Germany on her financial feet and of ours.

Black Market Fades

The proof of this is that a large party is hard put to it to make a dishonest living here any longer. The black market, as compared to conditions in 1946, is all but non-existent. In those days, no German would accept a mark if, instead, he could get payment in American cigarettes.

The mark, then pegged at ten to the dollar, was scarcely worth the paper on which it was printed. I arrived in Germany in May, 1946, with 18 in American greenbacks. I was promptly offered 1,800 marks, or ten times the legal rate for that small hoard. (I didn't sell, kids, honest) and I was offered three times the legal rate for my traveler's checks.

The new west mark is fixed at three to the dollar, and no finagling. The fact that it has replaced the cigarette as legal tender is certain evidence of the mark's hard value in the black market. Furthermore, in any remnants of the black market still existing, the dollar today only brings between four and five marks. —Hardly worth the trouble.

Makes It Very Hard

What's more, the United States army makes it very hard for any one in the armed services or any American visitor to turn a dishonest penny.

In Germany today, there are really three kinds of money. The first is funny money, or the occupation marks with which Uncle Sam now pays the troops and into which all American visitors must change their actual dollars on arrival (but not travelers' checks).

This, theoretically, keeps all the actual dollars in Uncle's hands and keeps 'em out of any black market. It is, by the way, a very successful system. Troops and American citizens alike must use the funny money to pay for all purchases at army PXs, or for mess or lodging at any army installation.

Commercial travelers or troops who wish to patronize the German economy, i. e., to eat at German restaurants, buy gifts or acquire a glass of beer, may change their funny money into west marks, at the rate of three for a dollar. No German is permitted to accept funny money in payment for any purchase, and likewise no west marks can be used as payment in any military installation.

Run Out of Business

This system has run the black marketeers out of business and made the west mark one of the most stable currencies in Europe. Theoretically and for all practical purposes it has also put out of circulation the third type of clams.

Known as "green money" or American dollars.

Some green money still circulates. I wanted to go to the Intourist restaurant, run by the U. S. S. R. Tourist Bureau, in the Russian sector of the city for dinner last night. I was warned in advance that the Russians welcome only such Americans as Intourist as can pay in green dollars.

Rules or no rules, all my life I have kept ten American dollars sewn in my corset cover for emergency fund. So we quietly tipped out and left the place to the sad-looking Englishmen and their long-faced French friend.

Which explains why I am still a law-abiding citizen today, in possession of my one piece of green money.

However, today my ten dollars rests untouched in my own private First National Bank. When we got to Intourist, I learned that only the Germans can sit downstairs where there is a lively band and some semblance of life.

The Allies must sit upstairs, a dull, decorous place full of the most shining silver and spotless linen I have seen in Germany. But there were only three other persons, two English and a French

We decided the funeral dignity enforced on the Allies by our Russian comrades was not worth my emergency fund. So we quietly tipped out and left the place to the sad-looking Englishmen and their long-faced French friend.

Bricklayers Deny Slowdown In Work

There is no exact number of bricks a bricklayer should lay in a day according to two union officials here.

Answering criticisms that bricklayers have slowed down their output, Lynn Gilmore, president and Elmer Yoho, deputy for Local 17, Brickmasons and Plasters' Union, said today:

"There is no exact number of bricks a craftsman should lay in a day, any more than there was any exact number of home runs Babe Ruth could make in a baseball game. It all depends upon conditions."

"The quantity of brick laid in any one day will vary with the thickness of the walls, the specifications of the architect, the distances between opening, the type of steel frames, the kind of mortar, the errors and discrepancies in other work the bricklayer must cover up, even the weather and hundreds of other factors which will vary from day to day and job to job.

"Our union is not just a bargaining agent, but an institution as old as civilization. It is proud of its skill and conscious of its responsibility in the future of the construction industry."

Buchenwald 'Witch' Faces Murder Trial

MUNICH, Sept. 26.—(INS)—Ilse

Koch, the notorious Witch of Buchenwald, will be tried for the murder of 24 Axis nationals and beatings resulting in the deaths of many others, when she is released from prison next month.

German officials said the wife of Buchenwald's head man will be prosecuted on the basis of testimony by 300 former inmates of the concentration camp.

A warrant for her arrest will greet the controversial figure when she leaves Landsberg prison October 16. The penalty for murder under the new German constitution is life imprisonment.

War crimes records show no proof the German woman had ordered lampshades made of human skin, and a government spokesman said the new charges would contain no reference to her alleged "hobby."

Guess who's losing sleep over this one?

FOR years, folks have talked about the "low-priced three" in the car business.

For a generation these have been the same three cars, unchallenged for position simply because they were lowest priced.

But take a look at the beauty pictured here and ask yourself:

How would you like to sell against it, with its wealth of Buick features?

How would you like to compete with it when it wears a price tag any new-car buyer can reach, gives you straight-eight performance for less than many sixes?

Truth is, this one sets a lot of standards that are going to be hard to match.

This styling is certainly something to start other designers tossing in their sleep.

This handy size—a dream in traffic, yet generous in interior room—is a "must" for cars yet to come.

The lift of high-pressure Fireball power—the level-going comfort of the Buick ride—the luxury of Dynaflo Drive, here optional at modest extra cost—all these are wanted things others just can't overlook.

So why not do the obvious thing and go see the car that's causing sleepless nights in Detroit?

Study its smartness, test its room and comfort, try its handling, note the precise figures of its delivered prices.

You can do all that on a single trip to your Buick dealer's—and make your selection of a wide choice of equipment and colors at the same time.

TEN-STRIKE!
Only Buick SPECIAL has all these Features!

TRAFFIC-HANDY SIZE • MORE ROOM FOR THE MONEY • DYNAFLO DRIVE optional at extra cost • JET-LINE STYLING • NON-LOCKING BUMPER-GUARD GRILLES • HIGH-PRESSURE FIREBALL STRAIGHT-EIGHT ENGINE • COIL SPRINGING ALL AROUND • LOW-PRESSURE TIRES ON SAFETY-RIDE RIMS • GREATER VISIBILITY FINE AND AFT • SELF-LOCKING LUGGAGE LIDS • STEADY-RIDING TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE • THREE SMART MODELS WITH BODY BY FISHER

Woman Charges Husband Beat Her

An information charging assault and battery has been made before Alderman James C. Brice, against Ackley Sterns, of near Stoneboro, by his wife, Mrs. Ruth Sterns, after the former is alleged to have beaten the woman badly, while in an auto near the First Methodist church.

The janitor of the Y. W. C. A. reported the matter to the police at 5:25 a. m. Sunday, and on investigating, found that Mrs. Sterns had been badly beaten. She stated that her husband had forced her to get into the car at their home and threatened her with a shotgun during their trip here. He beat her when they got to the corner of North and Jefferson streets, and threw her out of the car, she told police.

Loses Life In Effort To Make Good On Bet

GREEN BAY, Wis., Sept. 26.—(INS)—Herbert Tuel, 42 of Milwaukee a rabid Green Bay Packers football fan, shouted defiantly at Chicago Bear supporters who claimed the Packers didn't have a chance.

"I'll swim that river if they lose."

Two hours later Tuel's favorite Packers were beaten by the Bears 17 to 0, and dejectedly he trudged out of the Green Bay Stadium along with a group of Milwaukeeans who had made the trip with him yesterday.

Then someone in the crowd reminded him of his bet that he would swim the Fox River which is 225 feet wide at the stadium.

Without hesitation, Tuel ran to the bank and, fully clothed, dove in.

The glee of the crowd turned to dismay when Tuel failed to emerge.

Police and fire department squads rushed to the scene and dragged the river for an hour before recovering his body.

Tuel's friends told police he was a fanatical Packer fan ever since he played football on neighborhood lots.

Tuel, a foreman in the Milcor Steel Products Company of Milwaukee, is survived by his widow, Jean, 37, and a daughter, Susan, 4.

OUT-OF-TOWN WEDDING
"I have received an invitation to a wedding which will take place out of town. With the invitation was a card which stated that I should reply to a certain address. Must I send letter whether or not I attend? I do not plan to go but I do want to send a gift. How soon should I send it? How do I go about answering the invitation?"

Answer: Send a formal regret, as follows:

Miss Joan Joanes regrets that she is unable to accept Mr. and Mrs. Robert Robinson Brown's kind invitation for Saturday the twenty-second of October.

Send a gift as soon as possible after receipt of the invitation. This should be done whether or not you attend the wedding.

Question: My daughter is being married in the parsonage. She will wear a blue satin dress with all the needed accessories and would like to know whether it is correct for her to carry flowers or wear a corsage.

Answer: Preferably a corsage.

Question: Would it be proper for me to have as Godparents for my child my mother-in-law and father-in-law?

Answer: Yes, it would be perfectly proper.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly send personal replies to questions from readers inclosing stamped, addressed envelopes.

Lawyer Fails In Effort To Arrange Bergman Divorce

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 26.—(INS)—Munroe MacDonald, international lawyer, planned to fly back to Rome today after being unsuccessful in his efforts to arrange a divorce for Ingrid Bergman.

The Swedish star's husband, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, brain specialist, refused to have any dealings with him.

So the attorney served the surgeon with a demand for a full accounting of his and Miss Bergman's joint property holdings and then turned the matter over to Gregor Bautzer, prominent Hollywood attorney, for the follow-up.

It was indicated that Bautzer, whose name has been linked romantically with Joan Crawford and other stars, would do everything possible to avoid a court fight.

However, it was assumed that steps would be taken one way or another to obtain the divorce the star has expressed a determination to have.

Two test bombs were set off at Bikini Atoll on June 30 and July 25, 1946. Three more were tested at Eniwetok in April and May of 1948. Question Two Men In Pittsburgh After 35-Year-Old Woman Is Beaten PITTSBURGH, Sept. 26—(INS)—Homicide detectives today questioned two north side Pittsburgh men about the brutal beating of a 35-year-old deaf mute woman.

Allegheny hospital authorities reported Mrs. Hazel Blackwell, the deaf-mute, was in serious condition. She suffered a broken jaw and possible internal injuries as a result of severe mauling.

Thomas Henson, 33, and Frank Wolanscu, 37, were held by police who intend to have Mrs. Blackwell attempt to identify one of them as a possible assailant.

Her unconscious body was found yesterday in the back yard of her north side home by Mrs. Grace Kaltreider, who told police she was awakened by thumping noises and groans outside her first floor apartment window.

Shelter Built Deep Under White House

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Deep in the earth under the White House is a bomb-proof, gas-proof air raid shelter for the protection of the president, his family and his staff.

The shelter, never needed in the Second World War, was constructed with feverish haste immediately after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, nearly eight years ago.

In the four years of the "cold war" since 1945, the shelter has been used as a paint and carpenter shop, and for storage.

It is constructed to withstand a direct hit from a 1,000-pound bomb. It will shelter 100 persons.

A-Bomb Protection

Experts say they are convinced, on the basis of present knowledge, that the shelter would protect the president against an atomic bomb blast.

The air raid shelter measures forty by forty feet. It is separated into four chambers—the large main room, separate sanitary facilities and a first aid room.

The main chamber, as set up for shelter use, was Spartan-like. It was furnished with a few chairs only. Its walls are painted a cool green. It is lighted by fluorescent lights.

Construction of the shelter began on January 2, 1942. Three months were required for its completion.

Connected to Treasury

A tunnel connects the shelter with the massive subterranean vaults of the United States Treasury, where there is another.

The chamber is made of the strongest reinforced concrete known to modern engineering. The walls and floor are seven feet of concrete. The ceiling is covered with nine feet of concrete as well as a thick slab of armor steel.

The steel ceiling is for protection of the occupants against injury from "spalling." This is the effect of a direct bomb hit which dislodged a plaster or concrete ceiling.

ing, losing hundreds of bits of flying debris that travel with speed of bullets.

More than 2,000 persons were killed in London's subways during the blitz from "spalling."

The air raid shelter has two entrances. Both are protected by heavy steel doors and poison gas locks. These locks function similarly to double hatches on a naval vessel.

The chamber is also equipped with diesel engine and de-humidifying system to provide fresh air.

Pumps are provided to take care of flooding in event of a break in street water mains.

There is also a complete telephone and radio communication system.

Duff Pats Farmers On Back For Work

HARRISBURG, Sept. 26.—(INS)—Pennsylvania's farmers had a pat on the back Saturday from Gov. James H. Duff for placing the commonwealth at the top of the heap in the value of poultry and eggs produced.

"Our farmers are to be commended for a new achievement," Duff said. "The poultry industry of the commonwealth in 1948 brought cash income to farmers and commercial poultrymen amounting to $202,000,000 nearly six million ahead of second place California."

He pointed out that the week of October 2-8 has been set aside as "Pennsylvania Poultry Week" to pay tribute to the industry.

'Mercy Killing' Is Defended

Mother And Brother Defend Girl Who Killed Cancer-Ridden Father

STAMFORD, Conn., Sept. 26.—(INS)—The mother and brother of 20-year-old Carol Paignt, who is charged with the "mercy killing" of her cancer-ridden father, defended her today with the declaration that she did what they didn't have courage to do.

Blonde, six-foot Carol, hysterical since the slaying, is in Stamford hospital under mild sedatives. Two policemen who worked with her father, Sgt. Carl Paignt, are guarding her.

The grief-stricken Carol, a green-eyed former athlete is unaware that a storm of controversy has shaken the quiet community as a result of the shooting.

Deserves Sympathy

Mayor George T. Barrett, of Stamford, a close friend of the family, recommended that "justice be tempered with mercy." He added that he felt Carol deserves "extreme sympathy and leniency."

Carol's mother said: "Ditty

(Carol's nickname) has the old Paignt's guts. She did what I would have done if I had the courage."

Her brother, Carl, Jr., 22, a student at New Haven Teachers college, who was with his father when he died said: "I'm sorry he had to go. But I'm glad he went the way he did."

The elder Paignt had undergone an exploratory operation Friday that disclosed he was incurably ill. Mrs. Paignt said she was annoyed at the doctors at the hospital for telling Carol the exact nature of her father's illness.

Shoots His Wife; Then Suicides

JEANNETTE, Pa., Sept. 26.—(INS)—A 30-year-old Jeannette bartender ended her own life Saturday after he shot and killed his wife in a Jeannette store.

Relatives of Mrs. Peggy Brasili blamed constant marital strife for the murder of Peggy Brasili, 22-year-old mother of a five-year-old boy, by her husband John.

Police said he walked into the store where she was employed and shot her, then while customers ran into the street, fired a bullet into his head.

Mrs. Brasili, the former Peggy Noah, of Sharon, Pa., had separated from her husband last January. Since then, according to a sister, Mrs. Alice Maturo of Jeannette, she lived in constant fear of her husband.

PEANUT PRODUCTION

The world's total peanut production in 1948 was nearly 11,000,000 tons.

Indiana's fifty-mile water front on Lake Michigan is a great industrial center.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

What About Halloween Pranks?

In just a few weeks, now, one of the favorite holidays of America's youngsters will be upon us. Halloween has a long, though not always honorable, history in the United States.

For the most part, it has been a boys' holiday. Girls, of course, could bob for apples, dress up in witch costumes or something else appropriate. But as far as tricks on the townspeople were concerned, the gentler sex took a relatively minor role. It was the boys who turned over ash barrels, soaped windows, unhinged gates and engaged in other such deviltry. And it was their idea of good fun.

In a number of communities today substitute fun has been planned for the destructive fun that we used to enjoy. The schools, churches, neighborhood groups and even the community as a whole plan a kind of carnival in which youngsters and their parents may enjoy themselves. There are competitive games, community costume dances, church parties for the younger fry and a variety of other kinds of fun.

In spite of fond memories of the mischief we did, one has to agree that this newer approach is really better.

Salvation Army One Of Deserving Agencies Supported By Chest

The Salvation Army is an organization of men and women whose operations are chiefly concerned with the common people. Its officers engage in a life of self-denial in order that they might serve the people.

The special departments of the Army's work of providing shelter for the homeless, employment for the workless, reclaiming the criminal and the fallen; indeed, extending a welcome hand to all who are in need, comprise what is known as the social work of the organization. The work is a great humanitarian effort directed with the idea of proclaiming the Gospel of Christ by offering physical as well as temporal comfort.

Founder William Booth believed that a starving man must be fed before his hunger can be turned Godward. This policy has persisted and has expanded into many forms of aid for the unfortunate beside the soup kitchens. In Lawrence county alone the Salvation Army gave direct material aid to over 2,000 individuals and families last year. In addition it gave counsel and advice to many more who were sorely troubled with family and personal problems.

Last year the Community Chest gave $4,500 to this agency and this year the budget calls for an increase. A visit to the Army's headquarters on North Jefferson street is usually sufficient proof of the fine quality of necessary service work that is accomplished by the Army in this community.

Ladies who have no other opportunity to meet socially, gather once a week to learn sewing, cooking, child care or some other useful art and also partake of the pleasures that may be derived from friendly gatherings with a common purpose.

Another weekly function at the Army headquarters is the youth meetings. The organization regards the instruction and training of the young as of the highest importance.

Other important functions of the Army for the welfare of the community include Christmas baskets, disaster relief, visitation of the sick, aid for widows and children and night distribution of food to the home less.

The Salvation Army is an organization with a heart that performs those deeds that all with a real social conscience would deem necessary for a community of this size. A contribution to the Community Chest is a donation to 13 such agencies that strive 365 days a year to make this community a better place in which to live. One day's wages from each person in the area would make the drive a success and allow these sincere organizations to continue their fine work.

Automatic Weigh Recording Scale Has Been Developed

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 26.—(INS)—An electronic-type automatic weight recording platform scale has been developed by an aircraft corporation.

The new scale, accurate and virtually foolproof, will be used for weighing livestock.

With a capacity of 32,000 pounds, weights are registered on the large dial and recorded automatically on tape. Also recorded are the date, hour of weighing, number of species of livestock, and the initials of the seller.

Commercial installation of the scale will begin this month.

Forgeries of pictures can be detected by photography, which reveals differences of brush work.

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

(Letters intended for this column must be signed with name and address of writer.)

Editor,
New Castle News,
New Castle, Penna.
Dear Sir:

I understand powerful interests are lending their support to the adoption of a new World Calendar, which admittedly has some commendable features, but would plunge Christian countries into unmitigated confusion through the year end blank day feature.

It cannot be emphasized too strongly that any calendar featuring a blank day at the end of the year would be rejected by a large number of sincere Protestants, Catholics, Jews, and Moslems.

A calendar interfering with the continuity of the week strikes a mortal blow at all religions observing a weekly holy day, since it would destroy the religious significance of all holy days, including the weekly Sabbath, and make all Sabbaths after December 31, hinge on governmental decree rather than on Divine command. No reasonable person objects to calendar changes except as they threaten the most venerable institutions of the world's greatest religions. It is commonly believed that many calendar changes have been put into effect since the beginning of the Christian era. This is not true. There has been but one, the change from the Julian calendar to the Gregorian. That change did not in any way disturb the continuity of the days of the week. In 1582, Friday, October 5, was simply called Friday, and Saturday and Sunday followed as usual. The week was not broken.

It would seem that what the world needs right now is not a juggling with the calendar that will ignore the conscience of a large number of men and women; rather we ought to be seeking to build up every moral force of mankind.

America has marvelously prospered under God because of the strong religious and moral foundations laid by our founding fathers. Our continued well being and prosperity is dependant upon our continued loyalty to those great principles.

I urge you to do all you can to warn the people of the danger of this proposed change of the calendar.

Yours very truly,
MRS. EDNA HOLCOMB
R. D. 4, New Castle.

Pvt. Jean Winslow At Parris Island

Marine Private Jean F. Winslow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Winslow, 478 Neshannock avenue, has arrived at Parris Island, S. C., and has been assigned to the Third Recruit Training Battalion which has been especially reactivated to train women Marine recruits.

Miss Winslow, employed by The Castleton hotel prior to entering the service, was the first women enlistee in the regular Marine corps in Lawrence county. She enlisted on September 8, 1949, for a three year period.

The purpose of the Women Marine Recruit training is to furnish a group of trained women who are ready for assignment to duty in clerical and administrative fields of the regular Marine corps or for additional specialist training.

During "Boot Camp" the actual class-room training of women recruits will be conducted by a group of qualified Women Marine officers, though male Marine drill instructors will teach the new recruits snappy close formation drilling.

Efforts Speeded To Exchange A-Bomb Information

Knowledge That Russia Has Bomb Speeds British, Canadian Action

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Knowledge that the Soviet Union has the atomic bomb today sped efforts to increase the exchange of nuclear information among the United States, Canada and Great Britain.

Top atomic experts, along with leading diplomats, are holding daily secret sessions in order to pool their knowledge as was done in wartime.

The three nations are determined to maintain their lead in the atomic race.

Called by British
The meetings were called after the British, who first developed the theory that the atom could be used for an offensive weapon, expressed dissatisfaction over the secrecy being maintained by America.

The Russian explosion was expected to enhance chances that the McMahon bill, imposing stringent secrecy curbs on U. S. research, will be liberalized.

Hitherto exchange of information has been restricted to non-military development, such as medical research and possible power production.

Diplomatic observers also raised many questions on the possible repercussions in the world political field which might follow the Russian development.

These included:

1. The possible effect on the Atlantic Pact powers of western Europe as a result of the realization that nearby Russia presumably will be able to stage a lightning a-bomb attack.

2. The question whether Russia will now follow an even tougher policy in dealing with the western powers diplomatically, either in the United Nations or in other negotiations.

Some observers were of the opinion that the blast and the strengthening of Russia's bargaining position may have been a factor in the last moment decision of Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky to attend the present UN assembly session.

State Parolees Earn $3,000,000

HARRISBURG, Sept. 26.—(INS)—More than three million dollars was earned by an average of 5,230 parolees from December, 1948 to June, 1949, it is announced by the State Parole Board.

The taxpayers' bill for their maintenance in jails and penitentiaries would have been about $475 a person, or a total of $2,484,250 during that time, besides money the state sends to dependents, according to Chairman H. C. Hill.

Pittsburghers Set Up Trust Fund For Unfortunate Youth

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 26.—(INS)—Generous Pittsburghers Saturday contributed to a Donnie Neuman Trust Fund for the 14-year-old fatherless lad who suffered two broken arms, a leg fracture and amputation of his left leg.

Donnie is one of five children who have been living in a mortgaged home on meager social security payments since his father died last month.

He was pinned against a concrete wall Tuesday and had both his legs crushed by a car which careened over the curb. Surgeons at St. Francis hospital amputated Donnie's left leg Wednesday, his birthday.

News of the family's misfortune and Donnie's tough break caused C. F. Kirschler, president of the Provident Trust Company, to set up a trust fund for Donnie and his family.

Mrs. Mildred Neuman, mother of three boys and two small girls, said Donnie is worried because "he won't be able to help me for a long time."

GARDEN NOTES

Two, 4-D does not destroy crabgrass. Best controls is by the hard way—pull out all dead or dying crabgrass by hand. Reseed the bare spots with good grass seed. Perennials that require planting in the fall are anemones, bleeding heart, columbine, globe flowers, hepatica, iris, leopard's bane, peony, phlox and primrose.

Late cabbage can live in the open ground until November. Brussels sprouts have even better flavor after a frost.

Certain of the annuals like marigolds, cosmos, calendulas, zinnias, dwarf nasturtiums and single asters, may be lifted with a ball of earth and potted up for blooming indoors.

Tuberous-rooted begonias can be protected against early frosts by covering with boxes. Frequently, a long, cool period, ideal for begonias, follows the first frost.

Rose bushes set out in October and November often do better than spring-planted bushes. They will begin growth at the first sign of spring and will make valuable growth even before the spring-planted bushes are put into ground.

An inch of rainfall on an acre weighs about 100 tons.

A 10 YEAR RECORD OF PROGRESS WONDER BREAD IMPROVED 33% In the Milk Protein Factor To Help Children Grow Bigger and Stronger 8 Ways

"PROTEIN—THE KEY TO LIFE AND GROWTH"

THE FATE OF THESE 4 CELLS IS OFTEN THE FATE OF THE ENTIRE HUMAN BODY!

HEART CELL AND HEART

The human heartbeat cycle lasts about .8 second. 100,000 beats a day pump 10,567 quarts of blood! The heart rests between beats—a total time of 12 hours a day—about 25 years in a lifetime. The heart develops about 1/240 horsepower. Yet outwards by years the most perfect auto!

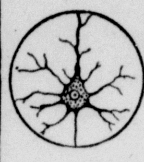

MUSCLE CELL AND MUSCLE

639 separate muscles contain some 6,000,000,000 muscle cells—less than half the number of the "thinking" brain. Each muscle cell has 400 fibrils. Each fibril bundle can "lift" 1/1,000,000th ounce; a muscle 1/2 inch thick from 58 to 140 pounds. Tongue muscles are fastest—25 movements per second!

BRAIN CELL AND BRAIN

One of 6 types of cells in cerebral cortex of the brain... which contains a total of some 15 billion cells. A principal factor in cell life and development is protein. Thus, in life, nothing is more important than the quality of the food we eat.

BONE CELL AND BONE

The skeleton has 222 bones. Each is made up of cells... some living, some petrified cells. Human bone can carry 30 times as much weight as brick; 3 times more than granite! Shin bone is strongest—it can support a load of 3600 pounds!

Serve Wonder Bread To Help Your Child Grow Bigger and Stronger 8 Ways

Note How Amazing Wonder Bread Compares With Meat, Milk, and Fish In Certain Growth And Energy-Building Contents (as stated in chart)

Without protein no child can grow in body or brain. Growing children need TWICE the protein per pound of body weight as grownups.

These foods are good for protein: Meat, Milk, Fish, Eggs, Nuts, And Wonder Bread.

Penny for penny, Wonder Bread gives your child 46% more body-building protein than the average of meat, milk, fish and eggs.

Good For Energy

Without energy no child can work, study or play. Wonder Bread is a good and substantial energy food. Then, too, Wonder Bread is more quickly converted into energy than fat. And, of course, is better in protein for child growth.

Helps Build Strong Bodies 8 Ways

The chart shows the 8 body and brain-building properties of Wonder Bread. Serve Wonder Bread together with fruits, vegetables, meat, milk, fish and eggs in a well-balanced diet. Give your child every chance to build body and brain. 8 ounces of Wonder Bread for a growing child cost less than a dime a day. Certainly you can afford Wonder Bread for your child.

Doubly Fresh

Children love Wonder Bread. Plain or toasted. Because Wonder Bread is doubly fresh—fresh when you buy it; fresh when you eat it. Because sio-baked—13% longer than many ordinary kinds for lasting freshness.

Get economical Wonder Bread fresh from your grocer today—you'll be glad you did.

Democrats Lead In Registration

Five-Day Total Of Registration Shows Edge—Books Close October 3rd

OTHER EVENTS IN COURT HOUSE

In the five days registration since the books opened after the primary the Democrats show a heavier registration than Republicans.

The total for Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday show 104 Democrats registered, 85 Republicans, one no party, 3 Prohibition, one Independent, and one Socialist.

Monday afternoon October 3 at six o'clock the books of the Permanent Registration bureau will close and no registrations will be received after that, prior to the November 8 primary.

The figures of the first five days show no indication of a concerted effort by leaders of either party to get voters upon the books. Apparently it is merely an effort of individuals to get themselves registered.

NEW DOG LICENSE HIGH
Every time a dog is licensed in the office of County Treasurer Don I. Neal, a new record is set. At noon Saturday there was a total of 11,049 dogs licensed, with the hunting season yet to come. This is the first year the total has passed 11,000.

Vogan Member Of School For Bosses At Carnegie Tech

New Castle is represented in Carnegie Tech's new "school of bosses" which opened a few days ago.

Joseph Vogan, son of Mrs. Edith Vogan and the late James L. Vogan of 335 Laurel avenue, is one of the six students enrolled in this educational innovation.

The new school, made possible by a grant of six million dollars by W. L. Mellon, is known as the School for Industrial Administration. Its purpose is to train young technical graduates in industrial administration, dealing with relations with the public, with employed personnel and customers.

In the first class of this new school there are but six students, selected from engineering graduates of last June, among them being Mr. Vogan. Oddly enough there are seven teachers for the six students. The classes will be of the seminar type.

Mr. Vogan is a graduate of New Castle high school and of Carnegie Tech. He is a member of the Tau Beta Pi and Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary engineering fraternities.

He is treasurer of Kappa Sigma, and a member of Delta Skull, an honorary social fraternity. He was a member and director of the Frat Glee club for three years and chairman of the carnival committee.

He was a member of the armed forces during the war, and has had some practical experience in industry with Carnegie-Illinois Steel company.

Navy Testing Tunnel Ready To Be Filled

World's Largest Bathtub For Toy Boats At Penn State Holds 100,000 Gallons

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Sept. 26. — (INS) — The world's largest "bathtub" for floating toy boats will be filled with 100,000 gallons of water October 7 at Pennsylvania State college.

That's when the U.S. Navy will dedicate its new testing tunnel for underwater devices.

The testing unit, 100 feet long, will enable the Navy's Bureau of Ordnance to conduct experiments with models up to eight inches in diameter and eight feet in length. The giant tunnel will be dedicated to the memory of Lt. W. Garfield Thomas, Jr., son of Deputy

State Mines Secretary W. Garfield Thomas, of Colver, Lieutenant Thomas, killed in action in the South Pacific October 11, 1942, was one of the first Penn State graduates to die in World War II.

BANKERS TO MEET
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 26. — (INS) — The Pennsylvania Bankers association has listed 16 committee meetings for a two-day conference September 29 and 30 in Philadelphia.

The meetings will be followed by the meeting of the Council of Administration on September 30 and October 1.

The idea of the concentration two-day meetings of the committees was proposed by PBA President Norman T. Hayes as a further move toward the streamlining of PBA operations.

According to postal laws and regulations, a rural mail carrier and postmaster cannot be husband and wife.

Today's Fashion Flash

NEW YORK, Sept. 26. — (INS) — "Scandalous sleeves," which expose the shoulder but stretch from upper arm to wrist, are the latest fashion fads in New York.

Top designers Adrian and Lilly Dache introduced the trend on cocktail and afternoon dresses. The sleeves give the impression of having been partly ripped from the bodice at the top of the shoulder-line and allowed to droop—with impeccable style, of course—to mid upper-arm.

The novelty treatment is a version of the high-fashion trend toward sleeveless dresses, worn with long gloves.

But, as one fashion critic said on observing them: "Long gloves and no sleeves look formal. 'Sleeves with no shoulders look downright scandalous!'"

The Handicapped

— it's very sound business

— it's Community Leadership

Throughout the United States the disabled Have Included Presidents and Lawmakers

In almost every community ... there are men and women who are commonly referred to as "handicapped" persons. They have varying degrees of disabilities. Some of them are veterans of one or both world wars; others are persons who have suffered disabilities in accidents ... some are the victims of disease or injuries at birth. Many of the world's great men and women have been handicapped, and some of them have towered above their neighbors.

They have embraced authors, poets, lecturers, inventors and composers. They have included millions of people who, in shops, offices, fields and factories, do all kinds of work to earn their living.

There was Steinmetz, a giant in the field of invention. His employer, conscious of his potentialities paid no heed to his disability. This world, as a result, gained splendid achievements from this man who was handicapped from birth.

Surveys Have Proved That Handicapped Workers Are:

- Safe workers.
- Absent from jobs less than others.
- More efficient workers.
- Persons who stay on the job.

Around Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 26.—For years freak publicity blurbs have told how Hollywood has discovered most of its new stars in Los Angeles gasoline stations or cafes—where the newcomers are allegedly lifted from jobs as tire-changers or counter-men.

But the records prove that studios still find most of their star material in New York.

An actor named Lyle Bettger is an excellent example. He recently portrayed a heel with Barbara Stanwyck in "The Lie." Originally Bettger was tagged by studio moguls who watched him whip through a four-minute footlight chore in the Broadway production, "Love Life."

He was brought to the coast for "The Lie," which you'll see shortly. On the basis of his performance in the movie, he has been signed to a juicy contract.

John Lund was whisked to Hollywood after his impressive Manhattan performance in "The Hasty Heart." Previously he had kept himself busy on the air and stage, writing as well as acting.

But Lund never even considered moving westward to sell himself cinematically. Hollywood, instead, came to Lund—as it nearly always does in the endless search for new faces and outstanding talent.

Stars Are Born
Also in "The Hasty Heart" was gifted Richard Basehart, now doing better than Okay in the film world.

Burt Lancaster, one of the Nation's current box office pets, was spotted by Producer Hal Wallis in the New York production of "A Sound of Hunting." Wallis brought him to movietown for a test, signed him, loaned him back to Mark Hellinger for "The Killer"—and a star was born.

Background dancers and some bit players are recruited locally, but economy-minded producers seldom feel inclined to waste good greenbacks teaching untrained actors to recite "How-now-brown-cow."

New York still is the nation's theatrical heart. That is where the movie industry looks to the stage and radio for new stars.

Betty Got Break
Betty Hutton's rooting-footin' job in "Panama Hattie" behind the footlights eight years ago inspired Buddy De Silva to pay her fare to the coast. Joan Caulfield earned a free ride to Hollywood by scoring decisively in "Kiss and Tell" in N. Y. and dramatic doll Dorothy Maguire came to the screen's attention via the theatrical version of "Claudia."

Leslie Townes Hope—better known as Bob, or Ski-Nose—used the Broadway production of "Roberta" as his springboard to film fame.

"This talk about Hollywood getting all its talent from drive-ins and soda fountains is the bunk," Bob said.

"If you don't believe me, just come to Hollywood and get a job mixing chocolate malts. Then see how long it takes before a studio asks you to sign a contract."

Lawrence Indies Crowned County Baseball Champions

Defeat Bessemer In Finale Sunday

Lawrence Indies are the 1949 champions of Lawrence County baseball.

The City league playoff titleholder nabbed the second game of yesterday's doubleheader at Flaherty Field 5 to 1 after being shellacked 18 to 3 in the opener by Bessemer, the County league kings.

The cement City nine threw a real scare into the Indies by slamming 20 hits in the first game and tying the best of seven series at three games each.

Anderson Homers

Bessemer got five extra base socks, including a homer by Don "Curly" Anderson, as the County representatives clubbed five Indies hurriers.

In the second contest, the Indies jumped on starter Jim Martin for four runs in the first inning and then outlasted Bessemer in the real playoff contest.

Wayne Shelar Hero

Wayne Shelar, the Indies young portender, again came through in fine style when the chips were all on the table. The former minor leaguer allowed only six hits, four to Paul Johnson, he walked none and struck out three. Martin allowed only six hits, walked 7, and struck out 3. After the bad first inning, the game was a real pitchers' battle. Manager Hoss Zidow played it right.

Three fast double plays in the Indies infield helped Shelar's cause immeasurably. Ace shortstop John Magusiak started one and was the pivotman on the other two. The Bessemer crew would have settled for one or two of these twenty hits from the first game for a clutch spot in the second contest, but that wasn't to be.

Yesterday's contests ring down the curtain on the 1949 baseball season in this community. The

Slippery Rock Tops Westminster 21 To 0

The Westminster College Titans were defeated 21-0, by a strong Slippery Rock eleven Saturday, in New Wilmington, in a game dominated by the Rockets' superior passing attack.

Slippery Rock scored twice in the second quarter, and once in the fourth, to defeat the Titans for the third straight year.

The Rockets passed for two touchdowns and set up the third through the airways. Halfback Phillips passed to Fox for the first marker early in the second period.

Later in the same quarter the Rockets scored again on a pass from Barron to McCullough.

A pass from Rocket quarterback Barron to Daniels placed the ball on the Titan 23 yard stripe in the fourth period. After two line plays and a penalty brought the ball to the five yard line.

Murray went through tackle for the touchdown. All three conversions were made by Bassett, nimble toed end for the Rockets.

Titans Threaten
Westminster's only threat came early in the first period when the Titans took over on their own 35 yard line. The Titans quickly made four first downs on a running attack sparked by Beynon, Bianchi, and Wharton and a pass from Barthelison to Bianchi.

The scoring chance was ended by a pass interception on the five yard line.

Slippery Rock completed seven of fourteen passes attempted for 96 yards and picked up 189 yards on the ground. Westminster completed four of eight tosses for only 12 yards and gained 122 yards on the ground.

Wharton Stars
Slippery Rock made 12 first downs to the Titans' six. Westminster was unable to make a first down during the second half.

Halfback Dick Wharton of Edgewood was the Titans' star.

Minelli Will Meet Beau Jack

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—(INS)—The International Boxing Club announced today that European welterweight Livio Minelli will substitute for Johnny Bratton against Beau Jack in the Chicago Stadium Friday night.

The reason was twofold: 1. The New York managers' guild objected to the signing of Bratton by the IBC and contemplated a boycott against future Chicago Stadium promotions if the match were held.

2. The promotional firm of Irv Schoenwald, Jack Begun and Jack Hurley holds exclusive rights to Bratton's services in Chicago.

Schoenwald said his organization had planned court action against the IBC unless $12,000 was paid for the use of Bratton's services.

Lowellville Hi Stops Bessemer

Twelve Game Winning Streak Shattered By Last Period Touchdown In 6-0 Game

Bessemer High school's string of 12 consecutive victories was shattered Saturday night as Lowellville administered a 6 to 0 defeat in the home opener of the Cementers.

The Ohioans denied the scoring column in the last four minutes of the game before nearly 2,000 fans. The Red and Black had not been tied or defeated since the last game of the 1947 season when Freedom did the trick. Last year coach Bill Ciccone's chargers romped to ten straight triumphs and had already annexed two ball games this season.

In the Saturday night struggle, the two teams battled on near equal terms for three periods. Bessemer threatened twice in the first stanza and were deep in Lowellville territory again in the third. However, the spark of spirit necessary for that scoring punch wasn't there and defeat was the result.

Menichini Scores

Bessemer led in first downs 7 to 4.

Fullback Faraglia set up the Lowellville TD with a 55 yard run with four minutes remaining. Right halfback Menichini scored the clincher from five yards out.

Tom Shulga was the outstanding player for Bessemer as he led both the offensive blocking and was the main bulwark on defense.

The defeat will in no way effect Bessemer's chances in the County or Tri-County title race. In fact coach Ciccone feels that with this bad game out of their system, the Cementers will settle down to hard work and give much better account of themselves in league play.

Thursday night will be the big test for this theory as Union invades Bessemer for the first game in the County Class B football series. One of the largest crowds in Bessemer history is expected.

By HOWARD SIGMAND
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—(INS)—Time and the St. Louis Cardinals were running out on Brooklyn today, and many Dodger fans wouldn't give a devalued shilling for their team's pennant chances.

The handwriting on the wall was factual and indelible. St. Louis led the Brooks by a game and a half. The Cards needed to win four of their remaining five games to clinch the National league flag for 49.

Three wins and they could get no less than a tie. All this and a Brooklyn sweep of its remaining four, too.

Red Sox-Yanks Tied
Things weren't too rosy for New York's other prospective entry into the world series. The New York Yankees shared top honors with another for the first time since opening day.

Boston's Red Sox forged into a tie with the Yanks for the American lead by whipping them, 4 to 1 yesterday. And the Yanks, with their backs against the wall, had these same Bostonians to deal with today.

The Dodger faithful witnessed a repeating of history yesterday. Many of the fans at Ebbets Field remembered the bleak September day in 1946 when the Philadelphia Phils came from behind with a five-run rally in the eighth to beat the Bums in a game that eventually caused a play-off for the pennant. That's right. The Cardinals won it that year.

Yesterday, Brooklyn had a 3 to 1 lead for seven innings, but they lost out to the Phillies again—5 to 3—and again it was an eighth inning rally that did it—this time for four runs.

Harry Brecheen, one of Eddie Dyer's many "old pros," saw to it that the Cards won their game when the Cat pitched six-hit ball as his mates won out 6 to 1 and contribute four hits as he drove in three Red Bird runs.

The Cards now have two to play with the Pirates and three with the Cubs while Brooklyn faces the Braves and Phillies twice each.

The Yankee-Red Sox story could be told with two names, Parnell and Williams. Lefty Mel gained his 25th win as he stilled New York's DiMaggioless bats with four hits. Ted Thumpe contributed his 43rd homer of the season with one on in the seventh.

Boston has now won nine straight. The Yanks have lost four in their last five. Each team has six games left. They play each other in three of these. The Yanks meet the Athletics three more times and the Red Sox have three more with Washington.

In other games played yesterday Pittsburgh took a pair from the Reds, 7 to 3 and 5 to 3 in the National League. Ralph Kiner hit his 53rd homer in the first game. The Giants beat Boston's Braves, 3 to 2 and 5 to 2.

In the American League, Bob Lemon won his 21st game as the Indians topped the Tigers 7 to 1. Chicago's White Sox beat the Browns 7 to 5 then the Browns took the nightcap, 6 to 2.

Alex Kellner won his 19th as the Athletics topped the Senators 8 to 5 in the first game but the Nats took the afterpiece, 4 to 0.

Kiner Smacks Homer No. 53

Pirate Slugging Star Needs Three More To Tie Na- tional Loop Record

CINCINNATI, Sept. 26—(INS)—The magic number for Ralph Kiner is "3" today.

That's the number of homers the Pittsburgh slugger needs to tie Hack Wilson's National League home run mark of 56.

Ralph got his 53rd yesterday in the first game as the Pirates took two from the Reds, 7 to 3 and 5 to 3.

Kiner's two run blast was his 15th for the month and tied the one-month record set in May, 1923 by Cy Williams of the Chicago Cubs.

Breaks Record
It was Kiner's twenty-fifth homer on the road and it bettered Wilson's 1930 road record by one. Ralph has five more games to catch Wilson's mark and possibly the all-time righthander's total of 58 held by Hank Greenberg and Jimmy Foxx.
